Short track suit professional, article 2305Rubber

The suit is pre-shaped for the running position. According to the ISU rule, cut-proof Dyneema is incorporated into the collar and neck. Wearing the ruff is therefore no longer necessary.

The knees are padded with a solid polyester foam. The polyester foam is removable and washable.

There are pockets on the inside of the shin for additional protection / protector. The pants and the thigh are made of a rubber which has a very high compression and support of the muscles. The incorporated polyurethane membrane results in a very high wind deflection and therefore less turbulence in the wind. This rubber can be worked up / glued with foil.

The entire upper body consists of a rubber which has a high compression and support. The incorporated polyurethane membrane results in a very high wind deflection and therefore less turbulence in the wind. By incorporating polyester, this material can be completely sublimated.

Arms + legs are made of an Italian flexible elastane-Polyester material which has compression and is printable. The refurbished structure supports the wind slide.

To optimize the fit, a very light, flexible elastane-polyester material is incorporated in the armpit area.

A silver foil is worked into the inner right thigh to reduce the friction when moving around the curve.new

The suit should be tailored to the body shape of the athlete, only then will the compression + support of the muscles and wind glide be fulfilled. The rubber can break after a year of heavy use due to its tight fit and tight fit.

The suit should be worn by athletes whose body is fully grown.
